

OUR COMMITMENT TO COMPLIANCE

We diligently comply with Prop 65 and other regulations — and help our customers do the same.

The laws affecting our industry may change, but our objectives remain firm:

- To track and understand evolving rules and regulations
- To educate our customers and help them comply with local, state and federal requirements
- To develop and deliver innovative products that comply with laws AND support customer needs

Case in point: Prop 65

California passed Prop 65, or the Safe Drinking Water and Toxic Enforcement Act of 1986, to protect drinking water sources from harmful chemicals. At least once a year, the Office of Environmental Health Hazard Assessment (EHHA) publishes a list of chemicals known to cause birth defects, cancer, and other health issues.

~900 The number of potentially harmful chemicals on the EHHA list.

The law could affect ANYONE who does business in California — and we take that seriously.

Businesses that sell goods in California must comply with Prop 65, such as posting a warning if a product contains certain levels of a harmful chemical on the list.

Our company manufactures innovative products designed for use in billboards and signs. To ensure that our products are in compliance, we put them to the test. We commissioned a leading, multinational inspection, product testing and certification company to conduct wipe testing on products for the presence of chemicals on the EHHA list.

The results are in, and we passed.

The Ultraflex products that were tested contained very little to none of the questionable substances.

Based on these findings, we are not required to place Prop 65 warning labels on these products. Most important, our distributors, end users and employees can be confident they are handling products that have passed rigorous wipe testing for potentially harmful chemicals.

Compliance: It's good for everybody.

Our commitment to compliance goes well beyond Prop 65. We monitor and comply with multiple rules and regulations, such as ever-evolving tariff laws that impact products imported into the U.S., and the European Union's Registration, Evaluation, Authorisation and Restriction of Chemicals (REACH) regulation.

Compliance is complex, but it's incredibly important for our industry and our success.
